

Broadcast TV

TV Broadcasters have made the Sensatronics IT Temperature Monitor the standard for acquiring temperature for broadcast on their network. The IT Temperature Monitor is an easy installation, is highly reliable, and can be easily located at local or remote locations because of the Ethernet interface.

Monitoring temperatures in this environment typically involves the following:

- Monitoring Outside Temperatures

Purchase Justification:

1. High data accuracy
2. Reliability
3. Ease of installation
4. Low cost

Typical installation:

Multiple IT Temperature Monitor E4's, Approx $350, 1 or more probes

Installation Time: Typical installation time is less than one hour, including the placement of probes.

Software selections:

Custom Video Design Software with software “plug-in” to access the Temperature Monitor

Typical Customers:

Typical customers are broadcast TV stations and networks whom need a reliable and low cost solution to provide their viewers with accurate temperature readings. Temperature updates dynamically in a completely unattended manner.